Our speaker Ruth-Ellen Grimes, Ph.D., will give a talk entitled

YOU CAN'T BE THE CANDIDATE... YOU'RE NOT _____
An un-blindfolded woman criminologist's candid profile

Professor Grimes' observations, as a sociologist of law and criminology, detail more than four decades of participation in criminological circles as researcher, university professor, department chair, committee chair, and consultant. She presents the hurdles she encountered and the dynamics of change she perceived through a gendered social-political lens, embracing theoretical shifts, research topics, and candid commentaries on the networks and back channels of the 'not-so-old-girls' network.

Ruth-Ellen M. Grimes has published on the constitutionality of the death penalty, labeling theory, historic penitentiary philosophy, as well as architecture and media influences in criminology. She has taught at the University of Toronto, the University of Pennsylvania, the California State University system, and the University of California.
